

Crane urged to back U.S. revenue sharing

by KURT BAER

Local government officials from across the northwest suburbs Sunday urged U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, to support the reenactment of federal revenue sharing.

Crane said he remains philosophically and constitutionally opposed to revenue sharing, which returns federal tax dollars, without strings, to local communities. But he predicted the law, which expires next month, will be extended by Congress.

Statements supporting revenue sharing from the 29 municipalities and 10 of 11 townships in the 12th Congressional District were presented to Crane by Mount Prospect Mayor Robert D. Teichert at a meeting at the Elk Grove Township Hall.

"THIS PROGRAM CAME into effect (five years ago) when we really didn't need it. There was a prosperous economy and some municipalities actually had a cash surplus," Teichert said. "Today, we really need it and cannot afford to lose it."

Crane told the group of 25 mayors and township supervisors he would "keep an open mind" on revenue sharing as a practical necessity. But he restated his objections to the cost of the program, dubbing it federal "deficit sharing."

"I totally support the concept of keeping tax dollars in the local communities," Crane said. "But the whole concept of the local community having to go to Washington with a tin cup in its hand saying 'give us back some of our tax dollars' is repugnant."

Residents of the 12th District pay $3.50 in taxes for every $1 spent in the district, Crane said. Statewide, the ratio is $2 in taxes for every $1 in services, he said.

COLLECTING TAXES in Washington for inefficient redistribution to local governments also raises constitutional questions, Crane said.

"I would prefer a program that leaves the money here in the first place, or gives us a tax credit so that the bureaucrats in Washington never get their grubby hands on it," he said. Thirty per cent of the money in federal revenue sharing is used up just administering the program, he said.

The only strong local criticism of federal revenue sharing was voiced by Hoffman Estates Village Pres. Virginia Hayter.

"The whole country has become a junkie over revenue sharing. We are all hooked on it now," Mrs. Hayter said. If revenue sharing, which costs $5 billion a year nationally, has to be trimmed, townships should be given priority over municipalities for funding, she said.

TEICHERT REBUTTED Mrs. Hayter, saying federal revenue sharing is no different than any other major source of income that municipalities rely on.

"It is a fallacy to sit here and say we're self-sufficient because, except for some local license fees, a municipality doesn't collect its own money. We have the county, the state and the federal government collecting it for us."

Crane wound up the hour-long meeting saying that he has not made a final decision whether to vote against the continuation of revenue sharing. After national defense and justice, which Crane identified as the only two clearly legitimate functions of national government, revenue sharing deserves a high priority, he said.

"In the event I vote against revenue sharing, at least I will be philosophically consistent because I've voted against all the other stuff too. After national defense and justice, all the rest of it is open to question," he said.

A good investment: planner

Downtown mall garners parking panel's support

by JOE SWICKARD

A proposed pedestrian mall in Arlington Heights can be "the first step to show people what the downtown area can look like," says one community leader.

The mall, planned for Campbell Street between Vail and Dunton avenues, received enthusiastic support when presented Thursday to the village board's Blue Ribbon Committee on Parking. The mall could be built in conjunction with a planned multi-story parking garage as part of the central business district revitalization.

"The parking garage is something functional. It is only logical that something should be done for the esthetics. The mall . . . could be part of that," said village planner Joe Kesler, who prepared the mall design.

THE DESIGN CALLS for a clock tower, a fountain, advertising kiosks, a small sunken amphitheater, concession stands and a playground on the block between Vail and Dunton avenues. Although the mall is planned to be open, Kesler said it later could easily be converted to a covered mall.

If the one-block mall is successful, he said it could be enlarged to include the entire Campbell-Davis streets business strip.

After listening to Kesler's presentation, Earl Johnson, executive director of the Chamber of Commerce, said, "I think we should use the mall as the first step to show people what the downtown area can look like."

Herbert Klawitter, committee member, was more direct. "I think this mall is a fantastic idea."

KESLER SAID no price tag has been placed on the mall. He said the potential financial returns to merchants and the village, through tax money, would make it a good investment.

The plans call for closing off Campbell Street, but with access lanes for emergency and delivery vehicles. At the entrances of the mall would be passenger loading zones for private automobiles.

At the west end would be a 16-foot clock tower constructed of railroad ties. Just beyond the tower would be a fountain, shade trees and benches.

Kesler said the tower and fountain area would be a landmark and natural gathering place in the business district.

THE INTERIOR of the mall would have small concession stands selling such items as ice cream and sandwiches.

A small sunken amphitheater would be at the center of the area. Kesler said the amphitheater could be a showcase for events ranging from high school band and choral group concerts to displays by local car dealers.

"Let's say new car models could be displayed there for a week at a time. Dealers could exhibit their sporty or luxury models," he said.

At the east end of the mall would be a playground to keep children occupied while their parents shopped.

The entire mall would have patterned pavement, specially-designed lights and numerous trees and shrubs, Kesler said.

THE MALL, it is hoped would attract specialty shops and their customers who now go to regional shopping centers.

Kesler said in other communities where sections have been "malled off," merchants voluntarily improved their property to match the mall motif.

Johnson told the committee a recent survey, conducted by the Chamber of Commerce, found that 47 of 41 merchants replying favor the idea of a central business district parking garage.

Trustee August C. Bettman said, "The mall could help sell the garage and the garage could help sell the mall."

Project condemnation on agenda

The Arlington Heights Village Board tonight will consider an ordinance condemning the unfinished buildings of the $13 million Arlington Square apartment development at Rand Road and Ill. Rte. 53 in Arlington Heights.

The board meets at 8 p.m. at the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson has recommended the buildings be condemned because he considers them hazardous. There are no roofs on some buildings and there is an open swimming pool. Hansen said.

Hanson did not know the amount of escrow funds held by the village from the project but did say he doubts it is enough to cover the costs of demolishing the unfinished buildings. The additional costs, he said, would have to be paid by the developer, Plato Foufas & Co.

THE PROJECT was originally proposed as a 318-unit condominium and townhouse development when it was approved by the village board in August 1973.

The development was then renamed Arlington Square and ground was broken in January 1974. At that time it was still planned as a condominium and townhouse development, but in July 1975 Foufas asked the village to allow the first phase of the project to be apartments. Foufas also said he would discourage a mix of rent and sell in the same building but eventually expected all units to be for sale as condominiums.

Foufas, at that time, said the change was needed because of market changes, financial difficulties, high interest rates and because people were not willing to purchase them.

Nature's double whammy: warm rain to deep freeze

Unpredictable Mother Nature did an about-face Sunday from wet, spring-like weather with record-high temperatures back into the depths of winter.

A severe thunderstorm dumped an inch and a half of rain on the Northwest suburbs, flooding roads and basements.

A U.S. Weather Service spokesman said Sunday's temperature, a record high of 66 degrees, was expected to dip into the low-to-mid-20s today. The reason: A storm front passing through Chicagoland, possibly changing rain into light snow.

Flooding was reported throughout the area. Des Plaines police said Campground Road near River Road and Miner Street was closed because of flooding.

IN ELK GROVE Village, Sandra Edwards, 1511 W. White Tr., reported about three inches of water had collected in the family basement because of a sewer backup.

Mrs. Edwards said it was the second time within a year her house had been plagued by flooding. She said the backup contained sewage, making the basement stink and damaging carpeting and baseboards.

In Schaumburg, police said water was trickling into the police station, 231 S. Civic Dr., and flooding a cell area. Water run off was flowing over Jones Road north of Higgins Road.

Elk Grove Village police said several minor floodings were reported, but had cleared up by midday. Tonne Road and Elk Grove Boulevard were reported to be under water.

Arlington Heights public works officials said flooding problems had arisen at Yale Avenue and Oakton Street.

Buffalo Grove police said two minor sewer backups had been reported Sunday, but nothing major. Palatine police reported several small streets were under water, and there had been reports of several minor flooding incidents in basements.

Fight seen over GOP 12th Dist. delegates

by WANDALYN RICE
Republican Party leaders in the 12th Congressional District Saturday took the first step toward a possible confrontation between backers of Ronald Reagan, former California governor, and supporters of President Gerald Ford.

A morning-long meeting to interview candidates for the four delegate and four alternate positions from the district at the Republican National Convention ended with the differences between the Reagan and Ford forces clearly spelled out. The district includes Wheeling, Elk Grove, Palatine and Schaumburg townships.

Backers of Reagan told members of the 12th District GOP organization, which includes township committeemen from all the townships in the district, that "nothing less" than two of the four delegates pledged to Reagan will head off a primary fight over the delegate posts.

HOWEVER, HAROLD Smith Jr., Barrington Township committeeman and a strong Ford backer, said he was not sure Ford's campaign organization would accept anything less than all four delegates pledged to the President.

A 12th District delegation pledged to Ford would be a substantial embarrassment for U.S. Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-12th, head of Illinois Citizens for Reagan.

The question facing the 12th District

Organization is whether to endorse a single slate of delegate candidates in hopes of avoiding a primary fight or to make no endorsement and let each candidate run a separate slate in the March 16 primary.

The Presidential preference primary March 16, in which voters will vote directly for Ford or Reagan, will have no effect on how delegates to the convention vote. Four delegates, either pledged to a candidate or uncommitted, will be elected from each Congressional district, separate from the preference primary.

TWENTY-ONE PERSONS presented themselves as candidates for delegate Saturday, including Crane, Smith and Schaumburg Township Committeeman Donald Totten, state campaign director for Reagan.

Ed Murnane, a Crane aide who represented the congressman at the meeting, said Crane would prefer not to run for delegate as long as the 12th District Organization endorsed candidates who were acceptable to Reagan forces.

"Congressman Crane does not believe there has to be a confrontation," Murnane said, adding that "nothing less" than two Reagan delegates would avoid a confrontation.

Totten said he personally would prefer to see three Reagan delegates on the delegation. "We could accept a two-two split, but I feel three to one would be a fairer representation."

Smith, who supported U.S. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona in 1964, said he believes support for Ford is the only way to avoid splitting the Republican Party.

"Unlike 1964 we are not confronted by two groups representing major differences of opinion," he said. "Twelve years ago we entered the election with a split party. There is no need to repeat this. The way to avoid it is to stick with the man who is in the job."

SMITH SAID he is not sure whether he or other Ford backers would support a slate divided between the two candidates.

"This meeting is the first time we've gotten together on this issue," he said. "This is not the time to take firm positions on clearly debatable issues."

The organization will meet again Dec. 29 to interview more delegate candidates and discuss the issue. Filing for delegates for the primary is Jan. 7-14.

Area woman seeks hotel union post

An Elk Grove Village woman is among five female hotel and restaurant employees who hope to unseat the male leadership of their local union in elections today. Margaret Archbold, who says she is not a women's libber, will join with four coworkers at the Hyatt Regency O'Hare Hotel, Rosemont, in seeking to win the leadership of Local 450 of the Hotel Restaurant Employees and Bartenders Union, AFL-CIO. The union represents 5,000 persons in suburban Chicago. The union's two top leaders are men. "We seem to be the ones people would come to with complaints," Mrs. Archbold said. "We have the big mouths and I guess they know that management will listen."

New political party chartered

The Independent Conservative Party was chartered during the weekend by 50 Northwest suburban conservatives. The new party, which includes the entire 12th Congressional District, endorsed GOP Presidential hopeful Ronald Reagan as its first official act. The ICP also endorsed from the 12th District Penny Pullen, Robert Ahern and Roger Keats for seats in the Illinois General Assembly. The ICP is an outgrowth of the Conservative Caucus, Inc., which is headed nationally by former director of the Office of Economic Opportunity Howard Phillips. The party's constitution calls for an end to the graduated income tax, forced busing of the school children and local control of schools. The constitution also backs American military supremacy and the "right to life."

School closing on Dist. 57 agenda

The Mount Prospect Dist. 57 Board of Education tonight will be asked to consider the closing of Sunset Park School. The board will weigh recommendations from its ad hoc committee that the board consider closing the school next year. The board's building and sites committee earlier recommended that the board postpone school closings until 1977. Enrollment in Dist. 57 is expected to drop 30 per cent by 1980 causing a $2 million deficit in 1981 because of the resulting loss in state aid.

Ford's fondness for skiing poses special problems

...such as finding agents who can ski

VAIL, Colo. (UPI) — The Secret Service says President Ford's fondness for ski slopes at Christmas and the first family's traditional round of holiday parties pose some special security problems because of recent assassination attempts.

"The problems are particular but not unique," said William Duncan, a special agent with the Colorado office.

• "If we had a president who liked ocean swimming, it would be a question of finding agents who were good swimmers. Here, we just find agents who are skiers." Last Christmas was Ford's first visit to Vail as President. He had vacationed at the Rocky Mountain resort in his congressional days, enjoying the skiing and informal social atmosphere of the Bavarian-style village.

Duncan said security procedures, which included a protective ring of agents on the slopes and streets, would remain the same this year despite the assassination attempts.

"There will be sufficient precautions taken," he said. "But you cannot isolate a person. It is our intent not to interfere, but to provide a safe environment."

Vail, decorated like a Swiss village during the holidays, swells from its normal 1,000 residents to nearly 10,000 during Christmas with visitors pouring in from across the United States, Mexico, South America and Europe.

Part of the safe environment is the home the first family occupies. Owned by Texas oilman Richard Bass and rented to the Fords during their visits, the five-bedroom residence has been equipped with bulletproof windows, an internal security system and explosion protection.

The Fords own a three-bedroom condominium, purchased in 1969 for $50,000. Security problems at the residence forced a shift, so a rental exchange was reached with the Bass family occupying the condominium during presidential visits.

Ford will be joined during the vacation by his wife, Betty, his daughter Susan, 17, and his three sons, Steve, 18, John, 22 and Michael, 24.

Duncan said although advance men were re-evaluating the safety of the Bass home, he expected no changes. The Fords also used the larger residence during a vacation last August.

However, Duncan said changes in procedure may occur because Ford will be visiting the predominately Democratic state during an election year. The agent said Ford may visit Denver or other cities in the state during the holidays.

Duncan said routine checks of potentially dangerous persons would be made in advance of the trip.

During previous visits, the presidential compound was roped off to halt the flow of camera-carrying tourists. Agents were stationed outside the home and in a guard house at the entrance to the area.

PRESIDENT FORD is followed by his ski instructor, the slopes for a morning of skiing in Vail during the security men and daughter, Susan, as he takes to 1974 Christmas holiday.

Hunt for Hoffa's body stalls

A search for the body of James R. Hoffa stalled Sunday while the FBI attempted to pinpoint the exact location where the former Teamsters president may be buried. An FBI spokesman in Newark said there were no plans to start digging Sunday at Moscato's Dump, a 40-acre marshy landfill where an informant says Hoffa is buried in a steel drum. The spokesman declined comments on future plans. A state official said FBI agents would act only after they made certain where Hoffa was buried.

Sara Moore reads works of Lenin

Sara Jane Moore waiting to hear Monday whether a judge accepts her surprise change to a guilty plea on charges of trying to assassinate President Ford, said in an interview Sunday she is reading the works of Communist Party founder Vladimir Ilyich Lenin in jail. The 45-year-old former FBI informant said she intended to murder Ford and rejected her lawyer's plans to use an insanity defense because she felt it was not "honorable."

Secret Air Force satellite in orbit

A secret Air Force satellite blasted off from the Kennedy Space Center early Sunday and apparently was placed in a stationary orbit 22,300 miles above earth to keep tabs on Soviet and Chinese missile firings. The launching of the spy satellite, somewhat rare from Cape Canaveral but more common from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., was a closely guarded secret and was not announced until five minutes after blastoff.

2 murdered in handicapped care home

At least one unknown assailant broke into a Jacksonville, Fla. home for the handicapped Sunday, killing two persons and injuring three others in an outburst of terror. The two victims, both women, were staff workers at the Bethesda Center. A cerebral palsy victim and a blind resident of the center were beaten, and the husband of one of the dead women was shot.

Britons warned to be alert for bombs

Police warned Britons Sunday to be on the alert for renewed bombing attacks by the Irish Republican Army as a possible face-saving tactic after the end of the six-day Balcombe Street siege and discovery of a bomb factory in north London. In the raid on an apartment in London's Finsbury Park area police found explosives, detonators, and "all the paraphernalia for making bombs," as well as an Armalite rifle and ammunition, detectives said. The surrender of four Provisional IRA gunmen was a rather humiliating episode for the terrorists, Police Commissioner Sir Robert Mark said.

Fighting in Beirut dies down

Although Beirut fighting died down Sunday after the bloodiest week of the eight-month civil war, the state radio warned Sunday that the latest cease-fire between the warring Christian and Moslem militiamen was not holding and all roads in Beirut were unsafe. Australian and Canadian civilians were urged to leave Lebanon. American, British and German nationals already had been told to get out.

Tent fire killed 138 Moslem pilgrims

The Saudi Arabia government announced Sunday 138 Moslem pilgrims died and 151 others were injured when fire broke out in a tent city near the holy city of Mecca two days ago. The announcement said 52,000 Moslems were gathered at the time of the blaze in tents in the Majzara area 15 miles southeast of Mecca for one of the most important Islamic celebrations — the feast of Id Al-Adha marking Abraham's sacrifice of the lamb on nearby Mt. Arafat.

Extremists attack demonstrators in Spain

Right-wing Spanish extremists Sunday attacked demonstrators in the northern Basque region who were demanding freedom for Spain's 2,000 political prisoners. Police sources in the Basque town of Basauri said the toughs belonged to an extremist right-wing group called the Guerrillas of Christ the King. There were no reports of serious injury but witnesses said about 60 of the demonstrators were arrested.

Sadat sure Syria will sign disengagement

Egyptian President Anwar Sadat said Sunday he was certain Syria would sign a second disengagement accord with Israel and again urged the United States to open a dialogue with the Palestinians. But Sadat told the Paris magazine Nouvel Observateur he no longer knows what the Palestinians want and added, "That is the drama. Believe me, that's the entire problem. And it is tragic."

Holland train gunmen surrender

BEILEN, Netherlands (UPI) — Six South Moluccan terrorists walked away from a hijacked train Sunday and surrendered meekly to police, freeing 23 hostages unharmed and ending a 12-day nightmare of terror and death in Holland's quiet countryside. Authorities said they would be charged with murder.

But in Amsterdam, newsmen reported hearing what sounded like seven gunshots inside the Indonesian consulate where a second gang of Moluccan gunmen is holding 25 hostages.

Authorities said it could not be determined if any shots were actually fired.

"We are not alarmed by the reports," a police spokesman said. "If shots were fired, it was possibly the gunmen testing their weapons, or firing them accidentally."

Lt. Col. L. P. Bergsma, a Commander of the State Police, said police and demolition experts found a variety of guns, 400 bullets, three knives and a curved Indonesian sabre on the train but no explosives.

He said the terrorists had tied brown paper, Christmas crackers and chains to the doors "to make the passengers think they would get blown up if they tried to get out."

The noontime surrender by the six train hijackers followed a 15-minute visit by Johannes Manusama, leader of Holland's South Moluccan community of 40,000.

One of the terrorists, wearing jeans and a winter jacket and with black hair flowing to his shoulders, jumped from the mustard-colored train to the tracks first.

Then Manusama and a second mediator stepped gingerly down the train steps. The remaining five gunmen, all long-haired and some wearing bright scarves around their necks, followed.

They looked dejected as they marched across a frost-covered cow pasture to waiting Dutch marines and police, who frisked them for weapons.

Authorities said all six would be charged with murder in the shootings of the engineer and two other persons.

Their hostages ripped down newspapers covering the windows and waved and cheered as their captors were loaded into police vans and driven off.

The end of the siege came in sub-freezing weather following one of the coldest nights of the year in northeast Holland. Most of the hostages walked from the unheated train, some even carrying luggage.

But Red Cross officials carried a few on stretchers and soldiers helped others to walk across the field.

The freed hostages were taken to hospitals where officials said they appeared to be in fairly good condition.

As soon as the gunmen and hostages had left the train, khaki-clad Dutch marines boarded the two-car train and began to search it for weapons and explosives.

The South Moluccans — nationalists demanding independence for their South Asian homeland from Indonesia — seized the train Dec. 2.

They reportedly prayed and wept and read passages from the Bible as they killed the three hostages in the early days of the siege.

Selective Service change on horizon

Plan abolishes local draft boards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford is prepared to issue a presidential proclamation that would radically restructure the Selective Service System by instituting a one-day national registration and abolishing local draft boards.

The new plan, which is expected to be announced early in January, is in part a response to both budget restraints and computer technology.

In place of the paid local boards which now register young men as they turn 18, registration will be conducted in volunteered American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars halls, and in schools.

"The American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars have agreed to make available to Selective Service both sites and registrars," according to a working draft of a new Selective Service manual. Also, the National Guard and the U.S. Army Reserve agreed to the use of armories as registration sites, the manual says.

The manual also indicates Ford will establish the last Wednesday in March as the date annual registration shall occur.

Since April 1, Selective Service has suspended registering 18-year olds, although the legal requirement for registration still is in effect.

There have been reports Ford approved a proposal from the Office of Management and the Budget which would reduce the Selective Service budget from $28 million to about $6 million.

In addition, the use of computers and computer-related technology makes feasible the once-only national registration system.

Draft opposition groups, however, are fighting the principle of a single national registration date as well as the use of such groups as the American Legion and the VFW as volunteers.

Warren Hoover of the National Interreligious Service Board for Conscientious Objectors, said the new system does not allow a registrant to claim conscientious objector status.

"Experience shows that the lack of opportunity to indicate conscientious objector beliefs at an early point may later affect a claim adversely," the National Interreligious Service Board for Conscientious Objectors said in a statement opposing the new system.

Congress likely to OK tax measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congress is likely to pass a tax-cut extension early this week, but unless a compromise is reached with President Ford, legislators will remain in Washington longer than planned to override a promised veto.

Congressional leaders were looking for a compromise with Ford, who has threatened to veto an extension of this year's tax cut unless it is accompanied by a $395 billion spending ceiling for fiscal year 1977.

A compromise would allow Congress to recess for the Christmas holidays as scheduled at the end of this week. Failing to compromise means Congress must remain in session until Christmas week waiting for the veto and voting to override it, congressional leaders said.

The six-month tax cut extension is attached to a minor House bill dealing with railroads the Senate hoped to pass on Monday. The House planned to act the same day if the measure clears the Senate.

The House on Monday will try to push through a $10 billion supplemental appropriations bill that includes $2.3 billion for New York City. It faces a move to trim the aid to $1 billion. Senate approval is expected to come swiftly after the House acts.

Besides tax and the New York money, the House included on its busy Monday schedule the compromise energy bill which also needs Senate approval before going to an uncertain fate at the White House.

The Senate hoped to clear for White House consideration two other controversial conference measures, one giving unions the right to picket at construction sites and the other appropriating $112.4 billion for defense programs, a cut of some $8.5 billion from Pentagon requests.

The Senate also planned to take up on Wednesday the appointment of John Paul Stevens to the Supreme Court, a nomination that won unanimous Senate Judiciary Committee approval last week.

The Senate Armed Services Committee, meantime, opens hearings Monday on Ford's nomination of George Bush to be CIA director. Bush, a former House member and recently the U.S. envoy to Peking, has been criticized by Democrats as too political for such a sensitive position.

— Bush is a former chairman of the Republican National Committee.

A massive railway aid bill — necessary before adjournment to implement a railroad reorganization plan — must clear the House Rules Committee and then win floor passage.

Pope Paul kisses foot of Greek Orthodox prelate

• Pope Paul VI, praying to God to forgive past divisions among Christians, knelt Sunday before a Greek Orthodox prelate and kissed his foot in a gesture of humility that took onlookers by surprise. Vatican sources said there was no precedent of a Roman Catholic Pope paying tribute to another clergyman. The pontiff made his gesture to Metropolitan Meliton of Chalcedon during a mass in the Sistine Chapel marking the 10th anniversary of the lifting of excommunications the churches of Rome and Constantinople hurled at each other in the 11th century.

• Four out of five Republican leaders believe President Ford will overcome Ronald Reagan's challenge and be the party's nominee in the 1976 presidential election, according to a poll published Sunday by U.S. News and World Report.

• Joan Little, a young black woman acquitted in August of murder charges stemming from the death of a white jailer, was sought as a fugitive Sunday because she failed to show up to sign routine bond certification papers. An all-points bulletin, issued Friday, was in effect in North Carolina, although no special search was being conducted because it was believed to be a "publicity ploy."

• The American Jewish Congress has presented its first "Beauty Hall of Fame" award to Vidal Sassoon, a noted figure in women's hairstyling who fought as a soldier in Israel's war of independence . . . and for "his many achievements and innovations in the world of beauty and fashion."

• Clyde Monda of Milwaukee is no bank robber, but he does have $6,000 that officials of the Heritage Bank of Whitefish Bay say is theirs. They want it back. Trouble is, Monda doesn't want to give it back and to complicate matters has given the money to local charities. The commotion started when Monda went to the bank and closed out two accounts of his children. The difficulty is that his wife, from whom he is separated, had closed the accounts earlier. An embarrassed bank vice president later phoned Monda and said there had been a mistake. Monda is hoping the charities can keep the money. The bank, however, is taking a less cheerful view of the situation and a hearing is scheduled before a judge Monday.

• The on-again, off-again marriage of television star Cher and Gregg Allman is apparently on again following a separation that began last month. The couple reportedly reconciled at Allman's 28th birthday party last week.

Checking the computerized heart monitoring machine.

Cardiac computer listens for problems; calls nurse

by KAREN BLECHA

Holy Family Hospital in Des Plaines has a new computer — the kind of computer that could help save a life.

The computer monitors heart beats and can be hooked up to 16 patients at one time. Heart activity is updated every 15 seconds on a TV-like screen. If there is an irregularity in the heart beat — even if a patient rolls over in bed — a buzzer alerts the nurse. By pressing a button, a doctor can find out how a certain drug or a certain meal has affected his patient's heart.

Hospital officials said the new $165,000 system, part of the hospital's $5 million Cardiac and Intensive Care unit, is the first of its kind in Illinois and only second in the country. They said the machine saves nurses' time and enables them to provide more personal service.

WITH PREVIOUS heart monitors a nurse had to sit in front of a screen at all times and record each patient's heart beat at regular intervals. Now the computer does the work.

"Instead of having the nurses sit there, the computer will let them know when something goes wrong," said Donald Loftus, vice-president in charge of hospital operations. "The machine does not forget to check a patient while a nurse is distracted. It gives you heart trends at a fingertip."

If the buzzer sounds, the computer gives the nurse an automatic printout of the patient's heart activity. The computer also stores information up to 10 hours, which could not be done before. If necessary, the machine can be set to measure a patient's blood pressure.

"This is the next step in heart monitoring," said Dr. Robert Bielinski, medical director of the new unit. "Ten to 12 years ago we didn't have heart monitors at all. Now every hospital has heart monitors but the nurses have to sit there and watch a screen. This is the next step. I'm sure in years to come there will be other measurements the machine can take. For example, temperature."

LOFTUS SAID the hospital decided to purchase the computer so the new cardiac unit had the most sophisticated equipment. "We wanted to insure the patients in the unit are being observed as closely as possible," he said.

Both Loftus and Bielinski admit that the computer could make a mistake so the heart monitors previously used have been left in as back-up.

Loftus said the new system frees the nurses, one for every two patients, to give more individual attention to the patients.

"But remember this is just another aid," he said. "Nothing can replace a good nurse."

Bielinski said he is happy with the new machine but added it could always be improved.

"You're never satisfied completely. You'd like to be superman," he said.

We have it!

Schools

High School Dist. 214

In keeping with the spirit of the season, Wheeling High School students will celebrate Holiday Week, this week.

The activities are sponsored by the student council's special projects committee. This year's chairperson is Cheryl Mitchell.

Monday is Jingle Bell Day. On Tuesday, Santa will travel in the guise of a mailman, ringing in Greeting Card Day. Cards will be sold during lunch hours.

Candy Cane Day is set for Wednesday. Every candy cane purchased gives the student one vote for the class Candy Cane King and Queen.

Students are encouraged to dress appropriately for Red and Green Day, Friday.

Four class Christmas trees will be decorated with Italian lights and original decorations. They'll be in the main office, the library, the main foyer and the cafeteria.

The week's activities culminate with the annual winter assembly on Friday. The New Dawns, a vocal group conducted by Philip Stutz, will be featured. They will entertain with songs ranging from popular oldies to gospel rock. Selections include "Rock Around the Clock," "Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy," "Jingle Bell Rock," "Mother Country" and "Jesus is Alive."

The Orchestras dance troupe also will present a show during the assembly. Under the direction of Barbara Rubin, the 30-member troupe will perform five dance routines, choreographed by the students.

Bonnie Holthaus and Kim Peterson choreographed "Freedom." Holly and Alyssa Cole choreographed the "Battle for Freedom" and Sue Wachholz and Karen Paulus developed the movements for "Deck the Halls." Pam Schoemann choreographed "Frosty the Snowman."

An abstract dance number, "Snowstorm," was choreographed by Jane Elston and Vicki McHugh.

All proceeds from the Holiday Week sales will go to the student council fund.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21

Cooper Junior High School's winter concert Tuesday will feature seasonal music by the concert band, seventh and eighth grade girls' and boys' choruses and the Gibson-Knoll singers.

Admission is free to the 7:30 p.m. program at the school, 1050 W. Plum Grove Rd., Buffalo Grove.

Two holiday musical programs are scheduled at Holmes Junior High School, 221 S. Wolf Rd., Wheeling.

The seventh and eighth grade choruses will present a choral concert today at 7:30 p.m. "Christmas Bell Carol," "Carol of the Drums" and "How Far is it to Bethlehem?" are some of the featured selections.

The 100-member student band will present a holiday concert Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Music from light classical to rock will be featured in the program directed by Gerald Hawthorne.

Admission is free to both programs.

River Trails Dist. 26

Euclid School PTA is having a "thank you tea" Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. for all volunteer school helpers. The tea is on the anniversary of the Boston Tea Party. To honor that day, some of the fifth and sixth graders will perform a choral reading about King George. The school is at 1211 Wheeling Rd., Mount Prospect.

Des Plaines Dist. 62

Algonquin Junior High School's band, orchestra and choral groups will present a Christmas concert Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school gym, 767 Algonquin Rd., Des Plaines.

A short PTA meeting will precede the concert and a bake sale will be held before and after the concert.

Mrs. Ryan takes up gun to ward off 'burglars'

Four Arlington Heights squad cars were dispatched Sunday morning to respond to a report of a woman locked inside a room with a handgun to protect herself from a robbery in progress.

Carol Ryan, 33, of 3350 Carriageway Dr., wife of Village Pres. James Ryan, telephoned police about 9 a.m., reporting she had been robbed and locked herself inside her bedroom.

Car hits traffic light; woman hurt

An Arlington Heights woman was injured late Saturday when her car crashed into a traffic light after she swerved the vehicle to avoid another car on Palatine Road near Wheeling Road in Wheeling.

Listed in satisfactory condition Sunday in the intensive care unit of Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines, was Vicki Endres, 23, of 2803 N. Elm St. No charges were filed.

When police arrived at the scene, they could not find any suspicious activity, police said. Neighbors said they had not seen anything unusual at the Frenchmen's Cove complex.

Mrs. Ryan told police it appeared everything was in order. She reported she had fallen asleep after her husband had taken his children by a previous marriage out early Sunday.

She was awakened by the noise of a key in the door lock, and she called out, asking who was at the door, but there was no answer, police were told.

Mrs. Ryan said she heard footsteps and noises sounding like paper and packages being handled. Police checked the house thoroughly and found nothing wrong.

Mrs. Ryan then told police she was apparently mistaken.

Later, she called the station to report it was a false alarm. While waiting in the car, Ryan had dropped off one of his children to leave the Sunday newspaper in the apartment, and the child apparently returned to the vehicle.

Area residents seek independence

Conservatives unfurl new party

by JOE SWICKARD

A self-proclaimed counter-revolutionary political party was chartered Saturday by 50 area conservatives.

The new party, the Independent Conservative Party, endorsed GOP presidential hopeful Ronald Reagan as its first official action. The ICP also endorsed Penny Pullen, Robert Ahern and Roger Keats for the Illinois General Assembly.

The ICP is an outgrowth of the Conservative Caucus Inc., of Falls Church, Va., headed by Howard Phillips, former director of the Office of Economic Opportunity. The Conservative Caucus hopes to set up anti-liberal lobbying groups in all 435 congressional districts.

THE PARTY encompassing the 12th Congressional District, adopted a constitution calling for an end to graduated income tax, an end to forced busing of school children, and local control of schools. The constitution backs American military "supremacy on land, in the sea, in the air and in space," and the "right to life."

The "right to life" section was the only one debated at the founders meeting at the Plum Grove Club in Palatine.

Party chairman Donald Tetzlaff, Arlington Heights, said the section. "No government resources should be used to encourage, sanction or assist the taking of innocent human life," was recommended by the national organization.

The section was approved after a brief debate, which centered on whether the group should adopt a "more neutral" position on the abortion question.

Phillips, the national director, ad-

Donald Tetzlaff

ressed the organizational session and urged the local party to take the initiative away from the liberals in defining issues and setting priorities.

"WE MUST LEARN to become counterrevolutionary conservatives," Phillips said, and not become relegated to a "status quo" position.

"We used to think that electing a president was everything. . . It's not enough to elect someone to preside over the other side's government," he said.

Saying that local pressure groups are the means to success, he said, "The key to political counter-revolution requires the election of a conservative Congress."

A conservative legislature would end "this drift toward disaster we're now in," he said.

He said the conservative's stronghold must be within the congressional districts and not in Washington D.C. Phillips likened fighting their battles in Washington to George Washington trying to fight the Revolutionary War in London.

"IF WE WIN here (locally), it will be ratified there (Washington)," he said.

Phillips later said the caucus is just starting, and its first real impact will not be felt until 1978. He said, however, the slow start is no indication of weakness or lack of support.

"When the change comes, it will come fast," he said, predicting a conservative speaker of the House of Representatives will be chosen in three years.

Phillips said if the Republican Party does not elect Reagan president in 1976, it could meet the same fate as the Whig Party in the 1850s. He said the GOP is losing its power base and could fall apart as a national force within three years.

HE SAID THE PARTY is "dead. It has no real organization. . . The party stands for nothing anymore."

The party could be saved, he said, by the nomination of a Reagan-Philip Crane, R-12th, ticket.

Crane aides have down-played the possibility of Crane running for vice president. Crane's job is in the Congress where he can be most effective, the aides said. Phillips will be meeting with former Treasury Sec. John Connally this week. Connally, who has been touted as presidential timber, could play a major role in a reformation of the Republican Party, Phillips said, although the former Texas governor "hasn't decided how he's going to jump."

Missing out on a pension plan? Read about this big tax-saving idea!

Recently enacted U.S. Government legislation has made possible generous tax benefits for people with no pension plan.

Under the Pension Reform Act, you can contribute annually up to 15 per cent of your earnings — not to exceed $1500 — to a pension plan. You can deduct the entire amount from your taxable income for the year and pay no current income taxes on it whatsoever. In fact, you pay no taxes on it until retirement when, most likely, you will be earning less and in a far lower tax bracket. What's more, the money contributed draws interest and increases rapidly in your retirement fund. And you pay no taxes on the interest, either, until retirement.

Through MONY, I have long specialized in pension plans. If you are not participating in a pension plan, I can show you how to get one of your own quickly and easily — while you save on taxes. All it takes is a letter or phone call.

The way we see it

We again need U.S. tax cut

Our sluggish economy will stagnate further unless President Ford agrees to an extension of the present tax cut.

Politics appears to be at the core of Ford's adamant promise to veto the 1976 tax cut bill which is about to clear Congress and land on his desk.

Facing a strong challenge in conservative Ronald Reagan's candidacy, Ford has made it clear that he will not extend the 1975 tax cut unless it is accompanied by a matching $28 billion hold-down in federal spending. The bill before Congress includes no such measure.

We are sympathetic with his concern about a burgeoning budget, as are most Americans,

GERALD R. FORD

City manager system good Des Plaines idea

Although the retirement of Des Plaines Mayor Herbert Behrel is still 10 months away, it's time city officials got down to the business of adjusting city government to his absence.

For the past 18 years, Behrel has served as a strong full-time mayor. His departure will create a void which will tend to increase the power of aldermanic committee chairmen in running the city.

The best means of dealing with Behrel's departure, we believe, is to adopt a city manager form of government with a part-time mayor. Other communities of comparable size have made such a shift, and the results have been more professional government.

City officials have scheduled a meeting in January to determine what steps to take. Des Plaines is a home-rule community, and the city manager system can be adopted by ordinance. No referendum is required.

The council should move quickly on this matter, for it must also select an interim successor to Behrel. We believe a part-time mayor's job would attract many capable candidates, and coupled with a city manager system, Des Plaines would be on the right governmental track to serve its citizens in the years ahead.

'Give precious life a chance'

I would like to take Jane Dickinson by the hand to a party our family attended a couple of Sundays ago. It was the annual toy shower given at Catholic Charities offices in Chicago. She would have seen hundreds of adopted children of all ages brought by their parents to our annual Christmas party where we say "hi" to that special caseworker who was the link in the chain that brought us such happiness. Some of us meet friends from our adoption club, our little ones greet Santa and we bring toys to be given to children less fortunate than our children. As I looked around the large room at the many happy faces of the excited children and the adoring proud looks of the parents, I thought, if only the people who believe abortion is the only answer could see this beautiful scene. How could they justify abortion over this?

As we leave the party and go through the tiny quiet chapel adjacent to the offices, I can't help but say a silent prayer of thanks to those two women who allowed me to become a "Mommy." I'm very grateful to both of them.

I'm sorry Jane Dickinson feels the way she does about adoption. If she could see all the happy, healthy and beautiful adopted children I have come in contact with I'm sure she'd feel very differently. Couples who wish to adopt a child do not receive one just because they ask for one but must go through an intensive investigation. For every woman who feels she cannot raise her expected child, for whatever reason, there are many couples waiting in line for the chance to raise her baby.

Abortion does not solve the abused child problem. People who abuse their children wanted their children and probably would not have had an abortion even if they could have. Usually these children are abused because after they are born they are not fulfilling a need their parents think they should. The percentage of abused children who are adopted is less than a tenth of a per cent!

I urge any woman, whatever her age, race, or religion, who thinks she may be pregnant and thinking of an abortion, give that precious life a chance! There is a hot-line at Catholic Charities you can call, 454-1717. They offer many services such as medical care, housing facilities, financial assistance, temporary care for the baby and, most importantly, counseling so you can decide what is best for you — and they will come to see you at a location that is convenient for you.

So please don't wonder if adopted children are well-fed, well clothed and surviving — they are doing beautifully!

Donna M. Wojdula
Arlington Heights

Fence post letters to the editor

Reader's logic 'biased'

The letter from Joe Rosenberger of Buffalo Grove in the Dec. 5 edition of your paper is appalling. His "logic," historical "facts" and opinion of the Catholic Church are obviously biased and based, on a large part, on ignorance. Consequently, the entire text of his letter, with the exception of the last, interrogative sentence, threatens no one. However, when Mr. Rosenberger asks, "How long must intelligent people tolerate this superstitious cancer eating at the body of American society?" he invites the same kind of answer Hitler came up with when he arrived at the "ultimate solution" to purge Germany and conquered Europe of Jewry. For you see, the only way to cure a body of cancer is to eliminate the cancer by excision or radiation, that is, to kill it. Is that how Mr. Rosenberger would rid the American body politic of the "cancerous" church? Also, which group would be next, Negroes, Latinos, Southerners, Jews, Sioux Indians? For shame, Mr. Rosenberger.

'Overdue' signal

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following letter is directed to George Longmeyer, village manager of Hoffman Estates:

I am in receipt of your letter dated Oct. 17 wherein you updated the status of the traffic signal at Gannon Drive and Higgins Road.

In your last paragraph you assured the residents of Hoffman Estates that when additional information is received or the status of the investigation changes, you would advise us by letter.

Recently, while driving to my home in Hoffman Estates, I noted that the traffic signals were up and appear to be almost operational.

You also indicated that once approval was received, it would take six to eight months for construction. Well, how could you gain approval and almost complete construction of the traffic signal within 30 days?

It would appear to me that in your original letter you were, one, misinformed and did not have the facts at hand, or two, that you were trying to delay the construction of the traffic signal.

As a resident of Hoffman Estates, I certainly will rest easier knowing that the probability of a young child being killed on Higgins Road has been diminished because of the construction of the traffic signal which was far overdue.

Berry's World

"All this criticism — does it mean that they don't want Henry Kissinger to be our six million dollar man any more?"

Ask Andy

Faults occur when crust rubs

Andy sends a 20-volume set of the Merit Students Encyclopedia to Leslie Pickens, 11, of Montgomery, Ala., for her question:

WHAT CAUSES FAULTS IN THE EARTH?

When we hear of a disastrous earthquake, we are told that it happened along a certain fault in the earth's crust. Often the same zone gives birth to fiery volcanoes and growing mountains. These stupendous upheavals are triggered deep within the earth. So obviously the fault zone reaches down miles below the surface.

For many generations geologists gathered evidence about the crust and deeper layers of the busy planet earth. A few years ago, masses of this evidence were assembled to give a surprising new picture of the earth's crust. We already knew that a thin, rocky layer sits on top of a thick, hot, plastic layer called the mantle. The new global picture shows how the mighty mantle causes all sorts of dramatic upheavals in the restless crust.

What's more, for reasons still unknown, the slim crust is cracked like a shattered teacup. On a global scale, there are about a dozen large fragments plus an uncounted number of small ones. These thick slabs of the rocky crust are called tectonic plates. And faults in the crust occur where the sides of two or more tectonic plates rub together.

These faults are the restless zones, where the earth's surface becomes involved with stupendous forces within the mantle below. On a global scale, the thickness of the crustal skin varies from about 5 to 40 miles, and the thinner layers are under the ocean basins. Temperatures rise as we go deeper, and the bottom level of the crust may be hot enough to melt rocks.

At this level the crust sits on the hot, plastic mantle which reaches down 1,800 miles. The mantle layer is involved with even deeper layers down in the earth's seething core. When we think of the enormous heat and pressure down here, the mind boggles. The crustal fault lines are weak zones where forces within the earth cause upheavals at the very surface.

Apparently there are two types of crustal cracks. Along an earthquake fault, plumes of fiery energy well up from below, causing earthquakes, volcanoes and mountain building. In other zones it is thought that the edge of a crustal plate tilts downward so its rocky material is absorbed into the mantle below. True, earthquakes and volcanic eruptions are dramatic disasters. But most of the earth's tectonic activity is too slow to be noticeable during a lifetime.

Andy sends a 7-volume set of the Chronicles of Narnia to Janet Stanton, 12, of Latham, N.Y., for her question:

WHAT DOES MAY DAY MEAN?

When the two words are separated and spelled with capital letters May Day means the first day of the merry month of May. For many centuries it was a festival to celebrate the arrival of spring. In ancient Rome, it was the day to honor the earth goddess Flora. In other countries it was the time to dance around the maypole, holding colored ribbons hoisted on top of a sort of flagpole. In modern times, Russia and other Communist countries celebrated May Day as Labor Day.

When mayday is spelled as one word with no capitals, it becomes a distress signal. At one time, the radio message from a sinking ship was SOS, tapped out as three dots, three dashes and three dots. Nowadays, the frantic call for rescue usually is tapped out in code words that spell may-day.

Do you have a question to ASK ANDY? Send it on a post card with your name, age and complete address to ASK ANDY in care of The Herald, P.O. Box 680, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006. Entries open to girls and boys 7 to 17.

Old forcing bid works well in this play

Oswald: "We discussed strong two bids all last week. There are lots of reasons why you should use something better if you want to get the best possible results. On the other hand if you are an ordinary bridge player and just want to have fun there is no reason to complicate your bridge life by trying something else. The old-fashioned two bid works pretty well."

Jim: Most experts use two clubs as their only forcing opening. A very few use one club. These can both work well if you handle all the problems they cause you but don't let anyone tell you that they simplify bidding. They, and particularly the artificial one club, really complicate matters."

Oswald: "Here is a hand bid some years ago. South decided to take full control. His plan was to bid six if North showed two or three aces. When North showed all four (they played five clubs to show zero or four aces) South bid seven spades."

Jim: "He probably had some anxious moments if North thought about notrump, but I see things ended happily. North let him play the one makable grand slam."

Collection of antique cards traces evolution of St. Nick

by ELEANOR RIVES

Whether he has been called Father Christmas, le Pere Noel, Kris Kringle, St. Nicholas or Santa Claus . . .

Whether he has been transported on a white horse, in a cart pulled by goats, or through the air in a sleigh pulled by reindeer . . .

Whether he has worn regal purple and gold silks, a brown hooded monk-like robe or a red suit with white fur trim . . .

He has lit up the faces of children all over the world and all through the ages with the joy and magic of Christmas. Even when he carried a switch — and he often did in days gone by — with which to punish the bad children.

THE EVOLUTION of St. Nicholas, a real-life bishop of the fourth century, to our jolly present day Santa may be traced in the fascinating collection of antique Christmas cards belonging to Mrs. H. Frederick Peters of Des Plaines.

St. Nicholas of the fourth century, a patron of children, was made a bishop while still a boy. According to legend, he gave bags of gold to three girls whose fathers could not afford dowries. From this came the custom of giving toys and candy to children.

"Today's Santa evolved not only from St. Nicholas, but also from an ancient Yule god," said Mrs. Peters, "one who rode a white horse. That explains why Holland and a few other countries sometimes depict Santa on a white horse."

THE CONCEPT of St. Nicholas was brought to the United States by early Dutch settlers, and so he was conventionally dressed in medieval Dutch costume. The fat, jolly American Santa of today emerged after Clement C. Moore wrote his famous poem in 1822, "A Visit from St. Nicholas" ("Twas the night before Christmas . . ."). From that poem, Thomas Nast, political cartoonist, drew his interpretation of Santa.

Halcyon Peters, a retired teacher from High School District 214, began collecting cards of all types about 10 years ago. Her collection now numbers well over 1,000, and more than 300 depict St. Nicholas or Santa Claus. Fifty of these are presently on display at the Park Ridge Historical Society.

"IN THE EARLY 1900s, people didn't send Christmas cards in volume as they do today," she said. "They sent only a few, and they were postcards. In those days, it cost a penny to send a card."

She explained that postcards without pictures first came into existence about 1873. The first picture postcards appeared about the time of the Columbian Exposition, 1893.

"In the United States, until 1907 it was illegal to write a message on the same side as the address," she said. "Often the picture took up only two-thirds of the space to allow room for the message."

When Mrs. Peters began collecting Santa postcards, she paid from a nickel to a quarter apiece for them, 50 cents for an exceptionally fine card. Santa cards, especially those from before World War I, are becoming scarce, and many are now worth $6 to $7 each.

HER MOST expensive card dates back to 1909 and bears the verse: "Hold this before a brilliant light/And Santa Claus will come in sight." The card, with its "see through" panel, is worth $15.

Mrs. Peters' oldest Christmas postcard, made in Germany and mailed in 1899, shows a white-bearded Santa in brown coat riding in a sleigh. She has several "Clapsaddle" cards, those drawn by Ellen H. Clapsaddle, pre-World War I artist, whose depictions of Santa with charming, winsome children are in high demand by collectors.

Santas and St. Nicholases are as varied as the countries of their origin, the artists who designed them, or in some cases, the models who posed for them. Often cards appeared in a series, and collectors such as Mrs. Peters group all series together.

"THE MOST beautiful Christmas postcard came from Europe," she said. "The lithography of Germany is beautiful. Workmanship is exquisite. Many are hand-watercolored. American cards are not as ornate or imaginative as the older European cards. They are true works of beauty."

Mrs. Peters has divided her Christmas postcard collection into two books, and is well into a third. One contains typical Santas, mostly American-made cards; the second, which she titles "The True St. Nicholas," shows non-American unconventional depictions of Santa. The latter is her favorite.

In these, St. Nicholas may be portrayed in regal purple and gold robe wearing a cope and miter (cape and bishop's hat) and carrying a crosier (staff). Often he is blessing the children. Many times he carries a Marionette.

A DUTCH CARD shows Santa riding a white horse led by a black slave. A German card of the early 1900s shows him in a gold robe about to switch a pleading boy. In a card from Paris, children are wearing wooden shoes. A Belgian card of 1906 shows a monk-like Santa in a gold robe carrying the Christ child. One rare card from 1906 has come to be known as "The Black Santa," since he is attired in black.

But whether St. Nicholas is shown in blue silks, white furs, regal robes, or the humble brown sackcloth of a monk; whether he carries a suitcase, a switch, a basket or a pack twice as big as himself; whether he is plodding along on foot, riding in a goat cart or flying through the air in a sleigh — wide-eyed youngsters, eagerly anticipating his annual visit, recognize him immediately.

"A child knows Santa when he sees him," says Mrs. Peters.

Changed attitude needed to control VD

by DALE SINGER

It isn't easy to do a good public relations job for gonorrhea and syphilis. When most persons consider venereal disease, they can't help but think that those who contract it only get what they deserve.

The sexual revolution has brought changes in many attitudes, but feelings about VD are still not in the open. They remain tucked away, buried in questions of morality and antiquated school-boy notions of the causes and effects of the so-called "social diseases."

It's no secret that there is a VD epidemic in this country. Information from the American Social Health Association shows a new case is caught every 11 seconds and more than 5,000 girls are absent from school each day because of gonorrhea. VD can cripple, sterilize, blind and kill.

Dr. Ralph H. Henderson, director of the VD Control Division of the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, believes there are enough medical tools to fight syphilis and gonorrhea. What is needed now, he said in a recent interview, are changes in attitude making proper medical treatment acceptable and accessible for all who need it.

"IF YOUNG PERSONS get these diseases, often they have to interact with the older generation, whose attitudes haven't changed," he said. "The older generation has the money, the expertise and the facilities to help cure these diseases."

Changing the image of VD is not easy. Some medical authorities have begun calling syphilis and gonorrhea "sexually transmitted diseases" to remove some of the stigma that the term VD has acquired over the years.

Advertising campaigns such as "VD is for Everybody" have helped somewhat, and an effort is being made to integrate the diseases into television shows to demonstrate how common they are and how widespread their impact can be.

Unfortunately, few persons in the United States today believe that gonorrhea is their problem," Henderson said. "Yet it affects us all, whether we ourselves become infected, whether our children become infected or whether we pay with our tax dollars for health care services."

THE OFFICIAL view toward sexually transmitted diseases has changed over the years. Prostitution was once thought to be largely responsible for their spread, but Henderson said that is no longer the case. He said male homosexuals are a particularly high risk from acquiring and spreading syphilis.

"Gonorrhea in the United States is primarily a disease of youth," Henderson said. "In Sweden, they say every hour a teen-ager catches gonorrhea. In the United States, a teen-ager catches gonorrhea every 40 seconds."

Three methods are usually recommended to avoid sexually transmitted diseases: total absti-

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

No miracles in vitamin E

After reading several articles recently on vitamin E, my husband, who is 30 years old, started taking two capsules, 200 I.U. each daily. He says taking vitamin E will add 20 years to his life. I think this is a bunch of garbage and am afraid they might do him harm instead of good.

Would you please give me your thoughts on this miracle vitamin.

You can find a lot of those articles about how great vitamin E is in health publications for the public, but not one in a reputable scientific journal. Recently, I read one such article claiming vitamin E was good for almost everything — even how it improved the profits from stud farms. The non-scientist writer went on to observe that Northern Dancer's sire and dam were both on vitamin E.

Although such unscientific foolishness is good for a laugh, it also leads to some poor health habits. Vitamin E is very useful in animals that need it. Animals have entirely different metabolic systems than we do. That is why we have to take vitamin C or get it in our food while a stud can manufacture his own vitamin C from carbohydrates. The shoe is on the other hoof when it comes to vitamin E, and horses and cows need it in fairly large quantities, but we only need the amount commonly available in common foods in a normal diet.

Most of the reports on the value of vitamin E are just testimonials — not greatly different from the testimonials you see with fad diets or those used to promote a thousand useless health gimmicks to the public.

YOU SHOULD SEND in 50 cents for The Health Letter, number 4-12, Vitamin E: Miracle or Myth, with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for mailing. Your husband would be interested in reading the history of vitamin E. Just address your request to me in care of Paddock Publications, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019.

That issue of The Health Letter will review the differences in the need and use of vitamin E in animals for fertility and even how useful it is to prevent heart problems in animals.

While your husband may get little benefit from vitamin E, it is important to realize it won't harm him directly either. The excess amount may not even be absorbed from his digestive tract.

The real danger of vitamin E and other vitamin fads is that they will replace or delay needed treatment. Your husband could improve his chances for living many more healthy, active years by following the right living patterns. Not smoking will give him an average increase of nine years of healthy living compared to a heavy cigarette smoker. A moderately low-fat, low-cholesterol diet, with adequate roughage and not too many calories, will help protect him from heart disease and will even promote good digestive tract function, perhaps even preventing cancer of the colon.

BY AVOIDING alcohol in excess and maintaining a regular fitness program, he will gain enormous health benefits.

Now such a program is not as easy as taking a couple of vitamin capsules a day, but it is based on years of careful studies of large populations and their susceptibility to heart, vascular, and digestive diseases. It would be a pity if he latched on to the overblown promotional efforts for vitamin E and missed the opportunity to follow a program that will do something for him.

Keogh Plan break for moonlighter

This is the last chance for all those families where any kind of job moonlighting goes on to send their payments to their Keogh Plan accounts or to enroll. For those who may not know about it, the Keogh Plan is handled by most banks and savings institutions and is approved by the Internal Revenue Service. It allows the deduction of 15 per cent of any extra earnings, or self-employed income, and investment of these funds in Keogh accounts.

The great advantage is that it reduces taxes on current income and becomes payable on retirement, when most people are in lower tax brackets. The deferment is not for those on specific retirement programs.

The maximum anyone can put in is $7,500 a year, or 15 per cent of all free-lance income, whichever is lower. I have a Keogh account and urge it on all who qualify. After all, any tax break is well worth looking into.

Dear Dorothy: Some pitch from a pine tree dropped on the front of a favorite shirt of my husband's. Is there a way to get this stain out?—Mrs. C. Gitchell

If it's an expensive shirt, I'd take it to a good cleaner. Otherwise, it's an experiment, particularly if the shirt is a synthetic. The normal method is to place the stain face down on either a paper towel or piece of white terry toweling and brush the stain with a clean white cloth dampened with trichloroethane (Energine), moving the fabric as the stain is absorbed. Let it dry, then dampen the area with water and rub with bar soap or the popular liquid detergent. Rinse and launder.

Dear Dorothy: Does rendered chicken fat freeze?—Chris Gossett
I hear that it does. It doesn't freeze hard, but stays well for some time.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to her in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 250, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

Changed attitude needed to control VD

nence, staying with one sexual partner and using condoms with a casual sexual partner.

In Sweden, Henderson said condoms are emphasized as a preventive measure to the extent that June was designated "National Condom Month." But, he said, condoms are not a reliable public health control tool.

"OUR PARADOX IS that patients who are highly enough motivated to use condoms regularly for the prevention of venereal disease are the same patients who are at least risk from getting venereal disease in the first place," Henderson said.

A major problem in stopping the spread of gonorrhea is finding infected men who have no symptoms and are not aware they have the disease. Henderson said such men can be found by screening infected women who come to clinics for treatment, then tracking back to all of their sexual partners to see where she contracted the disease.

But the mobility of modern American life makes such a man-hunt difficult. Henderson said that backtracking from infected women in New York and Los Angeles resulted in finding contacts in nearly all 50 states and several foreign countries.

Since the beginning of a control program started by Henderson's government agency in 1972, the rate of increase of gonorrhea has been cut in half, from 15 per cent to about 7 per cent. But the increase has not been stopped, and Henderson said further progress will require advances in public education.

THIS IS NOT meant to belittle efforts of further research," he said. "I'd love to have new tools to work with. But it is my own sincere belief that it's not new tools we need — it's new attitudes."

What must change, Henderson said, is the taint of moral wrongdoing that gonorrhea and syphilis have carried throughout the year.

"In reality," he said, "they are dangerous communicable diseases, just like any other dangerous communicable diseases, and if we wish to control them, our attitude cannot be one of wishing to punish those who are sick for being sick."

Next on the agenda

ARLINGTON La LECHE

Nutrition and weaning will be discussed at the Tuesday meeting of the Arlington Heights La Leche League. The meeting will be held in Mrs. Meredith Gamble's home, 1836 North Fernandez Av., Arlington Heights, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Nebbi Braun will conduct the meeting and may be called at 392-3341 for further information.

CHI OMEGA

The annual Christmas coffee and cookie exchange is Tuesday for Northwest Suburban Alumnae of Chi Omega. Brenda Miller of Arlington Heights will be hostess. A silent auction of Christmas crafts and baked goods is also featured. Information 359-1449.

WEST VALLEY NCJW

Audrey Gordon, expert in history and literature of religions, will speak to West Valley Section of the National Council of Jewish Women on "Eve and Lilith — Good versus Evil in the Bible" Tuesday at 8 p.m. at Northwest Suburban Congregation, Morton Grove. Information 272-2405.

Des Plaines LWV salutes members

Two members are being saluted during December by the Des Plaines League of Women Voters. The two, Kathy Defenbaugh and Joann Hamilton, have contributed 15 years of volunteer service to Des Plaines through the group.

Membership is open to all citizens of voting age. Newest members of the Des Plaines League are Joan Aagaard, Ethyl Caras, Dr. Luan D'Camp, Mary Gatsis, Shirley Hammer, Clare Montgomery and Jan Salletta. Information can be obtained by calling 827-8734.

Blanketing U.S.

British manufacturers are getting into the Bicentennial souvenir market with replicas of the woolen robes Englishmen traded to American Indians 300 years ago, says the National Geographic Society. In Oregon, an American woolen mill still weaves the special patterns preferred by the company's first customers, American Indians. Most are bought by Navajos, Hopis and Zunis to use in tribal ceremonies, as collateral in business deals, and as burial robes and wedding gifts.

Bridal pair ride in a Rolls Royce

Mr. and Mrs. James Dunlavy

A Nov. 8 bridal pair, Mary Pearson of Arlington Heights and James Dunlavy of Rolling Meadows, were chauffeured to their reception in an antique Rolls Royce. The wedding took place in Our Lady of the Wayside Catholic Church, the reception for 300 guests at Chateau Louise, Dundee.

Afterwards the newlyweds spent a two-week honeymoon in Hawaii.

Mary is the daughter of Mrs. Hildegarde Pearson, Arlington Heights, and Leonard Pearson, Chicago. Jim's parents are the Thomas Dunlavs of Rolling Meadows.

For the 3 p.m. ceremony the bride's sister, Karen, was maid of honor and Jim's brother, Tom, was best man.

THERE WERE three bridesmaids — Mrs. Terry Pearson, Palatine, Mary's sister-in-law; Kathy Harrington, Arlington Heights; and Patti Dunlavy, Jim's sister. Brothers of the couple, Tim Dunlavy and Terry and Kevin Pearson, were groomsmen.

Also in the wedding procession were Mary's cousins, Tina Dalziel of Chicago as flower girl and Jim Huenig of Palatine as ring bearer.

Mary graduated from Sacred Heart of Mary High School, attended Marymount College, Boca Raton, Fla., and is now working for a car rental agency at O'Hare Airport.

Jim, a graduate of St. Viator High, served in the U.S. Army for two years and then attended Harper College. He is now in construction work in the Northwest suburbs.

Public Notice

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the Board of Park Commissioners of Cook County, Illinois, adopted the following Resolution at a regularly scheduled Public Meeting of said Board of Park Commissioners duly held on December 8, 1970:

Resolution 75-12

A RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE LEVY OF A SPECIAL TAX FOR THE PURPOSE OF PROVIDING RECREATIONAL PROGRAMS FOR THE HANDICAPPED.

WHEREAS, the Board of Park Commissioners of the Schaumburg Park District has heretofore determined that it is in its best interests to provide Recreational Programs for the handicapped; and,

WHEREAS, the Schaumburg Park District has heretofore entered into a Joint Agreement with certain other Park Districts to provide Recreational Programs for the handicapped;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the Board of Park Commissioners of the Schaumburg Park District, Cook County, Illinois as follows:

SECTION ONE: That pursuant to Section 5-8 of The Park District Act, amended (Illinois REVISED STATUTES, Sec. 5-5) the Schaumburg Park District shall levy a tax, not to exceed .02 per cent of the value, as equalized or assessed by the Department of Local Government Affairs, for the purpose of providing recreational programs, including funding the District's share of the expenses of providing Recreational Programs for the handicapped, under the following participating Park Districts: Du Sable Park District and the Arlington Heights Park District, the Buffalo Grove Park District, the Elk Grove Park District, the Hanover Park District, the Hillcrest Park District, the Lake Forest Park District, the Oak Brook Park District, the Rosemont Park District, the Skokie Park District, the Wheeling Park District, the Winnetka Park District, the Wood Dale Park District, and the Willowbrook Park District.

Mount Prospect Park District, the Palatine Park District, the River Trails Park District, the Rolling Meadows Park

District, the Salt Creek Park District, and the Wheeling Park District, which tax shall be levied and collected in like manner as the taxes levied and collected in the District.

SUCH TAX shall be in addition to all other taxes authorized by law to be levied and collected in the District, and shall not be included within any limitation of rate contained in any Ordinance or Resolution of the Board of Directors, excepted therefrom, in addition thereto, and in excess thereof.

SECTION TWO: This Resolution shall be published once, in the Herald of Hoffman Estates and Schaumburg, a newspaper published in and having a general circulation in the County of Cook, within fifteen (15) days after the adoption of the Resolution.

SECTION THREE: If, within thirty (30) days after the publication of this Resolution in a Petition signed by the Electors numbering at least five (5%) per cent of the total number of electors voting for Park Commissioners at the last preceding general Park District Election, but not less than five (5%) per cent of the total number of electors, that the question of levying and collecting the tax described in Section One, be submitted to the electors of the District, the Board of Directors of the District shall call a Special Election on that question. If no such Petition is filed with the Secretary of the District within the time specified, then the Board of Directors of the District, then the Schaumburg Park District shall proceed to levy and collect such Special Tax.

SECTION FOUR: The various provisions of this Resolution shall be severable and if any part or portion of this Resolution shall be held invalid by any Court of competent jurisdiction, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this Resolution.

SECTION FIVE: All prior Ordinances and Resolutions in conflict or inconsistent herewith are hereby expressly repealed only to the extent of such conflict or inconsis-

SECTION SIX: This Ordinance shall be in force and effect thirty (30) days after it's publication as required by law.

ROLL CALL VOTE:

AYES: Commissioners Brandenburg, Doherty, Bock, Roberts and Johnson.

Support growing to put ethics amendments on ballot

He wants 'to make Illinois a model of interity'

by STEVE BROWN

Patrick Quinn has picked up about 20,000 signatures in the past six weeks, but the young man from Hinsdale is not an autograph hound, he is trying to pen some propriety into Illinois government.

Quinn, 26, is the staff director for the Coalition for Political Honesty, a group that is trying to gather 375,000 signatures in order to put three constitutional amendments before the voters next November.

"It's like being against sin," Quinn said while explaining the amendments would prohibit members of the Illinois General Assembly from collecting pay in advance, bar "double-dipping" and enact stricter conflict of interest prohibitions.

Although the project has been in the planning stages, the group's petitions have only been circulating since Oct. 18 and more than 20,000 persons have signed.

STATE LAW requires the group to have 375,000 signatures by May 1, but Quinn is aiming for 500,000 just to be on the safe side.

Quinn worked for three years as an assistant to Gov. Daniel Walker, but explains he prefers organizing to being a bureaucrat.

"My brother and I spent the summer studying various ethics initiatives around the country and decided while Illinois law is rather narrow and allows only matters pertaining to the legislature such an initiative would work here," Quinn said.

"Ethics legislation would go well here, especially in light of all of the corruption in the state," he noted, adding that the crime rate in the Illinois General Assembly is higher than that for the state.

QUINN SAID if the coalition, which includes student groups, law-makers, environmentalists and senior citizens can collect enough signatures to get the amendments on the ballots, then measures will probably be passed.

He added that while some persons say the effort will cost at least $100,000 to promote, the coalition will probably spend no more than $20,000. About $3,000 has been raised already.

"People have been sending money along with their requests for petitions," he added.

Two recent examples of legislators collecting their salaries in advance have caused the most public reaction and support for the amendments, Quinn said.

HE EXPLAINED when people hear about Chicago Ald. Esther Saperstein, a former State Senator, collecting her state pay in advance and then refusing to return the money, "they really become outraged."

Besides Saperstein, Quinn said taxpayers also get upset with people like former State Senator Donald Swinarski, D-Chicago, who accepted his $20,000 salary for an entire year at the beginning of a legislative session only to be indicted and convicted on extortion charges several months later.

Quinn said double-dipping, a practice where persons hold two government jobs, should also be banned because Illinois lawmakers are already among the highest paid in the nation. He noted they receive an annual salary of $20,000, plus $12,000 annual staff allowance and $36 a day living expenses.

He said one point that has caused some problems with the signature gathering has been the refusal of Chicago area shopping center operators such as Woodfield, to allow members of the group to solicit shoppers.

"This appears to be an overreaction, they apparently want to prevent any type of solicitation there," he said. Quinn added that downstate shopping centers have not presented the problem. Some shopping areas even have public opinion booths which allow groups to present their information in designated areas.

HE HINTED THE situation might be tested legally because of first amendment freedom questions.

While the effort is aimed at bringing some propriety to the General Assembly, Quinn suggests that he harbors no Utopian illusions about government.

"You can't make steak out of hamburger," he said.

"We would like to make Illinois a model of integrity."

Quinn said the coalition's action has prompted some legislators to introduce resolutions which would put some of the same issues before the voters.

"STATE SEN. James 'Pate' Philips, R-Elmhurst who took his two years' pay in advance has introduced legislation to prohibit that and double dipping," he said.

He added the legislative action requires three-fourths approval from the lawmakers and has little chance for action.

"People don't like the idea of legislators thinking of themselves as a special class. Laws like this are working in other states and they can work in Illinois, but the taxpayers will have to go out and send a people's message to the public officials in this state," he added.

Despite objections Harper faculty pay scale OKd

by MARILYN McDONALD

Harper College trustees have approved revised faculty salary ranges over the objections of Faculty Senate Pres. David Macauley this week.

The new salary ranges give minimum and maximum salaries for associate instructors, instructors, assistant professors, associate professors and professors. Minimum salaries were raised an average of 16 per cent and maximum salaries were raised an average of 5.6 per cent over last year's ranges in each teaching category.

Associate instructors will now earn between $9,750 and $15,900. This year they earned between $9,000 and $14,800. Instructors will earn between $11,200 and $18,250 next year. This year they earned between $10,000 and $16,750.

ASSISTANT PROFESSORS will earn between $12,880 and $21,000. This year they earned between $10,620 and $20,140. Associate professors will make between $14,810 and $24,140. This year they made between $12,500 and $23,640.

Professors will earn between $17,030 and $27,760. This year they earned between $14,000 and $25,865.

Macauley charged the board with "bad faith" in adopting salary ranges before the negotiation process begins Jan. 12.

"I have no objection to the salary ranges if they are established for hiring new faculty. But if the intent is to limit current faculty salaries I must strongly object," Macauley told the board at their meeting Thursday.

Macauley said the range raises were "unrealistic" because some faculty members already exceed the maximum salary in their category. Last year, faculty members filed suit against the board of trustees for not allowing 11 senior faculty members to receive the full negotiated salary increase. The board blocked full raises because the total salaries would exceed salary range maximums. The faculty won the case, thus allowing the 11 senior faculty members to exceed their salary range maximum.

MACAULEY ALSO said the increases in maximum salaries "do not begin to approach" cost-of-living increases of the past year.

"In my opinion, salary ranges are a negotiable item," Macauley said later. "The faculty senate is the recognized bargaining agent for faculty salaries and monetary fringe benefits, and salary ranges clearly fall under that definition."

Trustee Robert Rausch replied that salary ranges are not negotiable "nor have they been in the past."

"I take some umbrage at the charge that this is an act of bad faith," he said. "They (the salary ranges) are not a cost-of-living technique," Rausch added. "They are established to get the kind of people we want."

TRUSTEE JESSALYN Nicklas agreed that salary ranges have never been a part of salary negotiations with the faculty. Salary ranges have not been changed every year, she said, but only as the board saw fit to keep salaries competitive and equitable.

Salary ranges were established this year before negotiations in part to avoid problems which resulted in the faculty senate suit last year, she said.

At that time, faculty members said the board had not specifically stated that salary maximums could not be exceeded, Mrs. Nicklas said. Mrs. Nicklas said the board had mentioned the fact several times, but minutes and negotiation records did not show those statements, so the board "graciously gave in."

This year, with faculty salary ranges firmly established before negotiations, there should be no question, she said.

Macauley said the faculty senate would be making a formal response to the board's action in the near future. This year, with faculty salary ranges firmly established before negotiations, there should be no question, she said.

Macauley said the faculty senate would be making a formal response to the board's action in the near future.

IN OTHER ACTION Thursday, the board accepted a low bid of 5.4 per cent interest on the sale of $6 million in bonds to Northern Trust Co., Chicago. The bonds, are part of $12 million referendum approved by voters in September.

The board of trustees plans to close the deal on Harper's second campus site, Palatine and Schoenbeck roads, Dec. 30. The college owes $2,056,000 on the property, having previously paid $50,000 in earnest money.

The board also spent $5,250 of its new bond money on a traffic survey to be conducted early next semester. The traffic engineering firm of Barton-Aschman and Associates, Evanston, will study traffic flow in and around the present campus, Algonquin and Roselle roads, Palatine, to determine where a traffic signal might be needed. Officials say the study will take about four weeks to complete.

Bears find silver lining in late scoring binge

by BOB GALLAS

If there really is such a thing as victory in defeat, then the Chicago Bears won a lot in a 34-20 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday.

Because a new spirit is becoming evident in the Bear lockerroom. It's a spirit that comes from believing in oneself, even in defeat. And the young Bears are starting to believe.

It may have been a second line defense to which the Cardinals entrusted the task of holding a 34-0 lead with 12 minutes left in the game, but the Bears may have showed themselves something with an almost unbelievable seven minute fourth-quarter scoring spree which netted 20 points and a little more respect for the Bear team.

Chances are if you approach a Bear after a game one statement will come out in the conversation eventually. "This is going to be a good football team."

The statement is said with such conviction that makes you believe too. Any Bear is quick to add, however, "We're not there yet."

Mistakes, the Bears constant companion all year, cost them dearly again Sunday as temperatures resembled those of late September rather than mid-December.

Three dropped third-down passes the first three times the Bears owned the football were indicative of Bear play for the first 48 minutes of the contest. But then the mistakes stopped, and the Bears started rolling.

Jim Otis may have been the star for the Cardinals, going over 1,000 yards rushing this year with a brilliant display enroute to 147 yards Sunday in place of Cardinal star Terry Metcalf, but for the faithful who remained in soggy Soldier Field, the star was the Bears' passing offense, which has never been so potent this year.

First the Bears capped a 70-yard drive with a leaping reception by Bob Grim in the endzone for a 24-yard score. But the extra point kick was blocked to make it 34-6.

The Bear defense then held the Cardinals, now being quarterbacked by Dennis Shaw, in for Jim Hart, and the offense went right back to work — and quickly.

Passing most of the way, Bear quarterback Bob Avellini handed off to Walter Payton who rammed in 10 yards for another touchdown with 6:33 left in the game. The extra point made it 34-13.

The Bear defense then went back to work, forcing a fumble, to get the ball back with 5:08 left. This time it took just one play — and a big one, for the Bears to score.

Avellini threw out in the flat to Bo Rather, and Rather proceeded to speed down the sidelines to a 48-yard touchdown.

"The play is called a quick screen to split," said Rather after the game. "The tackle kicks out the defensive back. When he did, I got behind the pursuit and was gone," said Rather, whose run made it 34-20 with the point-after kick.

Rather's 48-yard run was just one of the "big plays" the Bears came up with Sunday. It's the "big plays" that Bear coach Jack Pardee says his team needs to be a winner.

Avellini, who finished with a Bear high for the year in passing, completing 19 of 35 attempts for 255 yards, has been the quarterback at the helm during the Bears' offensive revival, but neither he nor his teammates are taking singular credit for an offensive improvement in the squad, now 3-10 with one game remaining this year.

"We're just starting to get together. There are still mistakes, but not as many. This is going to be a good football team," Avellini said.

"I think the team as a whole is tired of making excuses," said Rather. "Pride is starting to take over."

Rather singled out a definitely improved Bear offensive line as another reason for improvement.

"The line is getting four seconds," Rather said. "Instead of taking our cuts at 15 (yards), we have time to run at 20, 25 or even 30," Rather said.

While quarterbacks for the Bears have spent a lot of time knocked flat by opposing linemen this year, Avellini was getting plenty of time to pass Sunday, and was sacked only once.

There are plenty of sore spots to pick out in the Bears performance, such as the mistakes in the defensive secondary, dropped passes, and a running attack that netted only 67 yards.

But the Bears belief that "this is going to be a good football team," gained a little more credibility Sunday.

Bear shorts: 13,117 ticket holders decided to stay home Sunday, a season high.

• Bears kicker Bob Thomas now has 51 points on the season, making him the highest Bear scorer since the 1972 season.

• Bear veteran Doug Buffone played in his 139th consecutive game Sunday. Buffone has never missed a game since coming to the Bears from Louisville as a 4th round draft pick in 1966.

Area teams collect four victories

West wins; No. 500 for Freeman

A Herald Staff Report

Maine West grabbed a share of the Central Suburban League South lead, and coach Gaston Freeman notched his 500th career victory as the Warriors topped Glenbrook North in a home contest Saturday night.

West jumped out to a quick four point lead and North never came closer than that margin although they did threaten with five minutes left in the contest when they came within four again.

Bob Zuccarini led the winners with 16 points before fouling out with five, second half personals.

The Warriors controlled the boards in the very physical contest, pulling down 37 rebounds to North's 30. Buddy Doroskin led all rebounders with 20.

West jumped out to a 13-6 lead at the end of one period, and took a seven point lead to the lockerroom at halftime.

The Warriors, now 3-0 in the CSL South, share the division lead with Niles West and Maine East and a showdown for the lead is already in sight.

West entertains Niles West Friday night in the Warrior gym. But first, the Warriors must get victory No. 501 for Freeman, Tuesday night in a home contest against Niles East.

Riding a four-game winning streak, the Warriors will bring a 5-3 overall record into Tuesday night's contest.

BISON THUMP THORNWOOD

Brian Allsmiller slammed in seven straight baskets in the first quarter and Buffalo Grove was never headed in thumping visiting Thornwood, 59-43.

It was the sixth win in a row reeled off by coach Paul Grady's surging Bison and their seventh in eight games overall. Tied later in the contest after jumping into a comfortable early lead, the Grove went on another scoring binge in the final stanza to wrap things up.

Allsmiller finished with 28, hitting on 13 of 22 mostly outside shots from the floor. Fifteen of his points came during the first stanza while the hosts fashioned a 19-12 lead.

A strong rebounding game, paced by 6-5 Thunderbird standout Bill Roe, allowed Thornwood to creep back into contention by halftime. And Roe, who finished with 21 points, notched a three-point play at the outset of the third period to forge a 27-27 stalemate.

Tim Stonerook retaliated for the hosts moments later on a seven-foot turnaround jumper and Allsmiller canned a 15-footer after that to push the Bison into a permanent advantage.

In the final quarter Buffalo Grove began showing their authority on the boards — they finished with a 23-21 edge in rebounds — and moved into high gear offensively to win going away.

"The kids looked sharp tonight," Grady observed, in reference to less enthusiastic showings the previous week when virtually his whole squad was recovering from the flu. "Our guard game was especially good," he added.

One of those guards, Mike Ledna, backed up Allsmiller with 10 points and contributed 12 assists to the cause. The Thunderbirds, in addition to Roe, were sparked by Bob Kulovitz with 18.

FREMUD WINS 4TH

Fremud won its fourth basketball game in a row with a 67-60 victory at Crystal Lake. Coach Mo Tharp's Vikings are now 4-2.

The Vikings jumped out to a 23-17

first-quarter lead with balanced scoring from Rick Kolze, Craig Rawlins, and Dale Hallberg. But Crystal Lake fought back and tied the game with less than four minutes to play in the final quarter.

Kolze, the game's high scorer with 22 points, swished a 15-foot jumper to break a 58-58 deadlock and send the Vikings on their way to the win.

"We're really pleased with this victory," said Tharp, whose team has made huge strides since the season opened. "Crystal Lake is a big team — a good team."

Rawlins drew the defensive assignment for the Tigers' high-scoring Sam Mosolino, and Rawlins held him to 16 points, an important factor in the game.

"We've been making progress every game," Tharp pointed out, acknowledging that big games are coming up against Conant (Tuesday) and Hersey.

Fremud got 12 points from Rawlins and eight each from Hallberg, Kerry Field, and Greg Schroeder.

GRENS SWAMP DUNDEE

Dave Hornacek rifled home 18 points and three other players hit for double figures as the Elk Grove Grenadiers took a breather from Mid-Suburban League South Division action with a 66-39 win over the Dundee Cardinals.

The standard Elk Grove defense clicked in the second half, limiting Dundee to just 11 points in the final two periods to blow open a 35-28 Elk Grove intermission lead.

Mark Smith fired in 16, Joe Parmentier 12 and Mike Behm 10 to round out Elk Grove's double digit scoring. Mark Sass added eight for the Grens.

CARDS SUFFER CHARITY WOES

Arlington endured an off-night from the free-throw line and it proved costly as Wheaton Central posted a 58-34 non-conference triumph.

"I guess that's the most glaring statistic," a disappointed Arlington coach Don Drain admitted while reviewing the Cardinals' 14-for-27 in-

Maine West posts perfect marks in volleyball play

Maine West High School turned in impressive performances at both varsity and junior-varsity levels Saturday, emerging as the only entry with a perfect record in its own invitational volleyball tournament.

"It was a day of just excellent volleyball by everyone," said Maine West coach Roylen Tipton, "and I was super pleased with the way our girls played. It was just a chance for schools to play teams they don't normally meet, and everyone seemed happy with the competition."

Maine West took a 3-0 record out of the varsity action. The Warriors defeated Schaumburg 17-20, 20-15-20-14; New Trier West 21-19, 11-20, 20-12; and Barrington 20-16, 20-18.

Making up the unbeaten Maine West entry were Capt. Evelyn Johnson, Robin Downing, Karen Kiester, Jenny Bruns, Sue Bowersox, Irene Polacek, Jane Krauser, Carolyn Miller and Nancy Webber.

Barrington, Maine South and Forest View each emerged with 2-1 varsity records with Herald entry Forest View losing only to Maine South.

Connie Bauman coached the Maine West jaycees to their perfect record.

Greatest movie critics? Football coach tops list

Who are the greatest movie critics in history and why are they? I'll give you a hint: George Jean Nathan isn't among them. Neither is Pauline Kael, Bosley Crowther nor Chuck Champlin.

The greatest critics in history are football coaches. They can spot a flaw in a performance from a snippet of film, no matter how grainy or poorly lighted it may be. THEIR Academy Awards are not popularity contests. They can tell you right away which one is Spencer Tracy and which one's a chorus boy.

The football coach doesn't live who would play or schedule an opponent without first reviewing hours, or days, of film, showing its every single characteristic or tendency down to the minutest point.

It makes you wonder what might have happened if history's great military leaders had had the advantage of 60-millimeter full-color espionage. If they did, would some head man or assistant have been able to change or anticipate history the way a George Allen or a Don Shula can. Just supposing:

In 1876, some subaltern suddenly sat bolt upright at the projector at the fort and, pointing to the screen, said, "Wait a minute, General Custer, run that again! Wow! I thought so! Where's 'Stub'? Where's 'Sarah'? Where's the 'Mike' back? General, that's not the Indians' first team! They're in a trap defense! The old sucker play. You go blowing in there, I'll guarantee you it'll be a wipeout! Not even the football will be left! You try to sweep, and I guarantee you the whole team will be flat on its back. See! The Indians are in a red right. Their secondary doesn't even come into view until you've committed yourself! Then, you're never going to see so damn many Indians in your life!"

In 1812, what if some young lieutenant, reviewing the footage, said to Napoleon, "I don't like the look of it, sir. We're not going to be able to establish our ground game in Russia. Look at the condition of that field! Why, our backfield will be up to its hips! We'll never get to midfield. Whoever scheduled this as an 'away' game in the first place? Why, it'll be like scheduling Notre Dame at the Vatican!"

In 1940, what if someone said to Churchill, "I know they're a blitzing team, sir, but look at it this way: While their linebackers and safeties are in a blitz, they're leaving their own end of the field uncovered. Believe me, sir, we'll get them in the second half."

In 1865, Gen. Grant said, "Look, man, I KNOW it's dull! I KNOW the fans don't like it. I KNOW it's just grind-it-out war. But just look at the films! The confederates don't have any BENCH. So, we just keep running right at them till they cave in. I keep telling you: The ground attack is crucial when the other guys are thin in reserves. Read up on the campaigns of Gen. Woody Hayes, if you don't believe me. You just keep pounding away till they're out of able bodies. What's the difference whether you win by 6-0 or 49-13? I don't care if they do call me Old Three-Yards-And-A-Cloud-Of-Dust Grant so long as it wins the national championship!"

In 1100 B.C., some young Trojan inside the gates of Troy took a look at the pictures and said, "Just a horse, King Priam. That wooden house. Somehow, I don't think it's part of the half-time show. I just saw the eyes move. Unless I miss my guess, Achilles and a whole bunch of other heels are in there and if we Trojans pull it inside the gate, we're going to blow the Rose Bowl again this year!"

Shucks, the films might have told Admiral Kimmel the Japanese were going to try an onside kick at Pearl Harbor, that Ivan the Terrible got his nickname fumbling in his own backfield, that Hannibal was strong but slow, and relied too much on his bull elephant backfield. Caesar couldn't go to his right, Mussolini was just a project of the athletic publicity department and that the Russians would give Hitler the short ones and then take the football away from him at the goal line.

Heck, we don't need a CIA. Look George Allen in the cellar with films of the Kremlin, Cuba, and the Chinese generals and clips from the game in Angola, and he'll come out with a foolproof plan how you can beat 'em with special teams and double overtime.

Harper crushes McHenry

The Harper Hawks got double figures from all five starters and saw their six game losing streak disappear at the hands of the McHenry Fighting Scots, 88-58 Saturday afternoon.

Center Scott Green led the Hawks with 21 points and 17 rebounds as Harper broke open a 41-33 halftime edge to post their first victory since a win over Lake County on Nov. 25.

"We needed a game like this," said Harper's Roger Bechtold. "We've been playing such tough teams in the conference we were due for a break."

Bechtold juggled his lineup after an injury to Kevin Lavin in the DuPage game, an injury that will keep the Fremd grad out of action at least four weeks, by moving Jim Arden to guard and starting Mark Staddler at one of the forward slots.

Staddler responded with 13

points while Arden hit for the same from the backcourt.

"Jim had a hard time adjusting to the switch," Bechtold commented, "because he's used to having the plays set up for him at forward while at guard he had to set up the other guys. We'll have to install some other plays to get him open for shots."

Wally Butman had his second straight 18 point performance, prompting Bechtold to remark, "Wally is starting to come into his own, get his confidence up."

Steve Loughman closed out Harper's double figure scoring with 14 points.

"They were about the same size we were — small," Bechtold said. Still, the Hawks controlled the rebound department with a 45-34 edge and shot 51 per cent from the floor.

"I'm happy with that shooting," Bechtold said. "We were getting the ball inside to Green really well. He's just starting to reach full strength. His ankles are getting back into shape and he moved nicely out there the whole game."

Cardinals end Bears' win streak at one

While the Chicago Bears' attempt to extend their winning streak to two straight was dampened by the weather at Soldier Field and the St. Louis Cardinals, 34-20, there was some eye-brow-raising going around the remainder of the National Football League.

Detroit and Houston proved that on any given Sunday, teams that are otherwise invulnerable during the rest of the season are subject to occasional off days. Detroit knocked off playoff-bound Minnesota and Houston tipped the Oakland Raiders in the day's biggest shockers.

Jim Otis rushed for a career high 147 yards, pushing his season total over 1,000 yards Sunday, and scored two touchdowns to lead the St. Louis Cardinals to a 34-20 victory over the Chicago Bears that gave St. Louis its second straight National Football Conference Eastern Division championship.

Otis carried 33 times in the game to set a Cardinal team record of 256 carries in the season and had to carry only four times in the last quarter to total 1,007 yards gained — his first 1,000-plus season in his pro career. It was only the second time that a Cardinal ball carrier has gained over 1,000 yards. John David Crow ran for 1,071 in 1960, the first year the Cardinals played in St. Louis.

The Cardinals were never in danger of losing Sunday after Jim Hart directed them 70 yards to a touchdown after the opening kickoff. The Cardinals had a 34-0 lead before the first Bears' score came with 12:17 left in the game when most of the Cardinal starters were resting on the bench. The Cardinals' all-purpose star, Terry Metcalf, who was recovering from a leg injury, never played in the game.

Hart completed nine of 18 passes for 172 yards and he hit Metcalf's replacement, Steve Jones, for 16 yards and the first Cardinal touchdown. Otis got the next touchdown on a two-yard run and closed out the Cardinal scoring with his second touchdown on a one-yard plunge.

Jones got his second touchdown of the game on a two-yard run while Jim Bakken had field goals of 40 and 29 yards.

Bob Avellini, the Bears' rookie quarterback, and rookie running back Walter Payton were the keys to the last minute Chicago assault. Avellini passed to Bob Grim for 24 yards for the first Chicago score and then connected to Bo Rather for 48 yards and the third TD. Payton ran 10 yards for the other score.

Avellini wound up the game with 256 yards passing on 19 completions in 35 attempts, the highest passing yardage for the Bears in any game this season.

It was the 10th win for the Cardinals in 13 games and guaranteed them a first round playoff contest against Los Angeles or Minnesota the weekend of Dec. 27-28 with the site of the game yet to be determined. It was the 10th loss against three wins for the Bears.

NFL roundup

Colts alive in OT

BALTIMORE — Toni Linhart kicked a 31-yard field goal through a dense fog 12:44 into sudden death overtime Sunday to give the Baltimore Colts a 10-7 victory over the Miami Dolphins and put them into a commanding position for the American Football Conference Eastern Division championship.

The win lifted Baltimore's record to 9-4 and the Colts can take the AFC East title next Sunday with a win over the New England Patriots. The loss also put the Dolphins at 9-4 with the prospect of being out of the playoff picture for the first time since 1969.

The Dolphins still have a chance for the title should they beat Denver next week and Baltimore lose to New England.

The Colts launched their winning drive from their own four-yard line, and led by Bert Jones' passing and Lydell Mitchell's running, advanced to the Miami 14. Linhart's kick, out of Marty Domres' hold, was near perfect, sending the crowd of 59,398 into bedlam.

Jones completed all four of his passes in the final drive, including an 18-yarder to tight end Raymond Chester which rescued the Colts on a third-and-15 situation at their own 19. Bill Olds also ran for two of the first downs.

Jaworski leads Rams

LOS ANGELES — Second-year quarterback Ron Jaworski came off the bench early in the first quarter and played the rest of the way Sunday, directing the NFC Western Conference champion Los Angeles Rams to a 22-5 victory over the punchless Green Bay Packers.

Jaworski, who threw only 11 passes in the Rams' first 11 games, was inserted after James Harris' passing shoulder stiffened up in the pre-game warmups and he threw a first quarter interception.

Rob Scribner, another little-used Ram who came in when Jim Bertelsen suffered a knee injury, put the Rams ahead to stay at 9-5 on a three-yard touchdown run at 12:08 of the second period.

Tom Dempsey kicked field goals of 40, 39 and 38 yards and 1973 Heisman Trophy winner John Cappelletti scored on a two-yard run with 2:14 left in the game.

Denver sinks Eagles

DENVER — Floyd Little, playing his last home game before 37,000 fans who braved a 15 degree temperature and slight snow, ran 66 yards with a screen pass for one touchdown and dashed two yards off tackle for a second Sunday to lift the Denver Broncos to a 25-10 win over the Philadelphia Eagles.

Little, who finished with 19 carries and 56 yards rushing and five catches for 94 yards, will end his nine-year career with the Broncos following next Saturday's game at Miami. In that game, Denver, 6-7, will be hoping to salvage a .500 season.

The Broncos also scored on a one yard run by Fran Lynch and field goals of 41 yards in the first quarter and 29 yards in the fourth by Jim Turner, who missed extra points following both of Little's touchdowns.

Detroit stuns Vikes

PONTIAC, Mich. — The Detroit Lions stunned Minnesota with two touchdowns within 37 seconds of the first quarter Sunday and then held on to hand the listless Vikings only their second defeat of the season 17-10.

The Lions used an onside kick to score their second touchdown after Joe Reed capped a 55-yard drive following an interception by hitting Marlin Briscoe with an eight-yard scoring pass.

Three plays after linebacker Ed O'Neil emerged from a group of players with the football after the onside kick, Bobby Thompson sprinted 46 yards for a touchdown on a counter play.

That made it 14-0 with 4:33 left in the first period and Detroit was on its way to beating Minnesota for only the second time in the last 15 meetings between the bitter NFC Central Division rivals. The Lions will finish second in the division for the seventh consecutive year.

Oilers drill Raiders

OAKLAND — Dan Pastorini's two-yard touchdown pass to tight end Mack Alston with no time on the clock tied the score and Skip Butler kicked the extra point for the margin of victory Sunday as the Houston Oilers snapped Oakland's win streak at seven games with a 27-26 triumph over the playoff-bound Raiders.

Rookie quarterback David Humm's 13-yard pass to Morris Bradshaw with 1:58 left in the third quarter had given the Raiders a six-point lead which they protected despite a fumble late in the fourth quarter until the Oilers started their winning drive from their own 42.

PILE-DRIVING Jim Otis of the St. Louis Cardinals rams for a part of his 147 yards against the Chicago Bears Sunday at Soldier Field.

Otis tallied twice as Cards romped, 34-20, to win their second straight NFC division championship.

Falcons crush 49ers

ATLANTA — Rookie quarterback Steve Bartkowski passed for 305 yards and two touchdowns Sunday and the Atlanta Falcons, in an unaccustomed favorites' role, played daring offense while beating the San Francisco 49ers 31-9.

Bartkowski threw a 20-yard touchdown pass to Alfred Jenkins with barely a minute left in the second period and then connected with Jenkins again on a 63-yard TD play late in the third period.

The Falcons also scored on a 41-yard halfback pass from Haskel Stanback to Wallace Francis early in the final period after Stanback took a pitchout from Bartkowski, and the Falcons gained 25 yards when punter John James faked a kick and passed instead.

The Falcons opened the scoring in the game with a 22-yard field goal by Nick Mike-Mayer with 2:33 left in the first half, and in addition to the three touchdown passes, scored on a six-yard run by Dave Hampton midway through the third period.

NY Giants end skein

NEW YORK — Rookie Rody Colbert returned a third quarter punt 65 yards for a touchdown and Dug Kotar reeled off a 46-yard scoring run the next time New York got the ball Sunday as the Giants snapped a five-game losing streak with a 28-14 victory over the New Orleans Saints.

Colbert's punt return for the score was the first by a Giant since 1970 and Kotar's TD jaunt was the longest from scrimmage this season by the 4-9 Giants. It was the sixth straight loss and the 11th setback in 13 games for New Orleans.

Kotar's 46-yard scoring run, his second TD of the day, doubled the previous long run of the season by a Giant, a 23-yarder by Ron Johnson. Kotar's first TD, a one-yard plunge, tied the game at 7-7 and snapped a string of 11 straight scoreless quarters for New York.

Craig Morton hit Ray Rhodes with a 45-yard scoring pass with 1:37 left to seal the victory.

Sports world Blues hit Hawks

Jerry Butler's third-period goal earned the St. Louis Blues a 4-3 victory over the Chicago Black Hawks Sunday night at the Stadium.

St. Louis opened the scoring in the first period on Gary Unger's 18th goal of the year, but Bobby Sheehan retaliated for the Hawks with a second-effort tally — his 10th of the season, assisted by Darcy Rota.

The Hawks came out flying in the second period with quick goals by Grant Mulvie and J.P. Bordeleau forging a 3-1 lead. But the Blues countered on Bob MacMillan's backhander and Unger's second goal of the game for a 3-3 stalemate after two periods.

Garry Young was fired Sunday night as the coach of the St. Louis Blues.

Skaters advance to nationals

The Herald area will be strongly represented in the upcoming National Freestyle Figure Skating Championships Jan. 7-10 following outstanding performances over the weekend.

In the Midwestern championships held in Denver, Colo., Mount Prospect's Karen DeAngelo won to Senior Ladies competition. Frnk Swelding of Prospect Heights finished third in the Senior Men's event and both Beth and Frank Swelding will make the trip to Colorado Springs for the nationals after posting an impressive second in the Senior Pairs division.

The top three-place finishers in the Midwestern meet advanced into the nationals. The ultimate goal for the skaters is the participation in the World and Olympic Games.

Corzine keys DePaul's upset

Before Saturday night's Louisville-DePaul game, DePaul Coach Ray Meyer said, "If center Dave Corzine is able to play, it could be a good ball game." He was right. Corzine, a 6-foot-11 center and graduate of Hershey High School, scored 17 points and handed off 13 assists as DePaul upset seventh-ranked Louisville, 78-76 on the Cardinals' home court.

Corzine, who had run a needle in his foot a week ago, apparently has fully recovered and helped the winners come from behind to help upset the previously unbeaten Cards. He gave DePaul the margin it needed with five minutes left, getting a layup for a 72-68 lead. Ron Norwood made it 74-68, and after Louisville sneaked one in, Curt Watkins hit with two free throws for a 76-70 lead.

The Cardinals made a six-point surge after Norwood hit on both ends of a one-and-one, and Rick Wilson, Louisville's high scorer with 22 points, made the game's final score. It was the first loss at home for UL since it dropped a 65-55 game to Alabama in the Holiday Classic in December, 1973. The Cards had won 24 games at home and would have tied a school record for consecutive home court wins with a victory over DePaul.

accuracy. "We certainly could have won it at the line."
The dismal charity-stripe performance was even more painful from the standpoint that Wheaton came out and connected on its first nine from the line to help establish the Tigers' biggest lead of the evening, 28-16, midway through the second period.
But the Cardinals continued to match Wheaton on an even keel from the floor and with Jim Grandt and Tom North contributing 13 points apiece and Greg Jantsch and ball-handling wizard Dan Frase pumping in 10 each, Arlington clawed back to within 54-51 in the fourth quarter.
Chuck Aeshliman, the game's leading scorer with 22, sealed the verdict for Wheaton with a fast-break bucket as the Tigers spread out the offense and wore down the clock.

'BIG D' SINKS PROSPECT
Aurora West turned on the "Big D" for their coach Saturday night, allowing him to over impress some old friends while his cagers were smothering a visiting Prospect quintet, 56-26.

Blackhawk mentor John McDougal is a former Knight assistant basketball coach. His club wasn't exactly hospitable, however, as they turned on a man-to-man, three-quarter court press that had the guests talking to themselves by halftime.
"They were too quick and aggressive to penetrate and too big to shoot over," pointed out Prospect assistant coach Hank Symanski. "They're a very impressive ballclub."
So impressive were the Blackhawks that nearly half of Prospect's offensive production was credited to the reserves after both sides emptied their benches in the fourth quarter. Up to that point Brad Millar, a chief Knight inside threat, had everything blocked underneath while Mark Longrie was top point man at halftime with three field goals from outside.
The score at the end of three periods favored the hosts, 42-14.
Brad Krause chipped in with a pair of buckets and Scott Miller and Tim Kubicki contributed one each as Prospect fought back toward respectability in the final period. Chris Etter wound up as top Knight point man with 10.

LOYOLA CRUSHES VIATOR
Loyola Academy scored 30 first quarter points and coasted the rest of the way en route to a 77-37 romp over the St. Viator Lions.
Led by ball-stealing guard Mark Daniels, who scored 23 points in the first half, the Ramblers overwhelmed the Lions in every phase of the game, rolling out to a 51-26 lead at halftime.
Substitutes dominated the contest in the second half as the Lions were not able to improve any on the score. Viator managed only two points in the third period as the Ramblers rolled up a 40 point lead.
"They (Loyola) were even quicker and more talented than we even expected," said Lion coach Ron Cregier. "All we can do is put this one behind us," he said.
Glen Girard and Steve Nataro led the Lions with 10 points each. Daniels netted only two points in the final half to finish with 25 for the Ramblers.

The loss drops the Lions record to 2-6, 1-1 in East Suburban Catholic League play. Viator travels to Holy Cross for a league contest Friday before entertaining conference foe Carmel at home Saturday.
FALCONS GROUNDED, 72-49
Elgin Larkin never broke stride out of the starting gate and handed Forest View a 72-49 non-conference thumping Saturday night.
After racking up a 19-11 first-quarter margin, the Royals broke the game open in the second period before settling for a 41-29 halftime lead.
The Falcons lost their leading scorer Nate Adams late in the third period when the sharpshooting guard sprained an ankle and never returned to action.
Elgin controlled the backboards, 31-18 as well as the offensive phase of the game in scoring twice as many field goals as Forest View, 32-16.
Chris Hanson paced the Falcons with 13 points and Jim O'Rourke added 11 before fouling out. Forest View's overall record slipped to 1-7.
